

Dear Friends and Family:

We continue to recognize how blessed we are to have you along with us as we do what God has called us to do. Working with Trans World Radio over the last 22 years has been an incredible journey. We have had many blessings and many challenges and many more blessings. Always God has let us remember His presence. While we wrap up our assignment on Bonaire in the next few months, we can't help but remember God's faithfulness to us through you with your prayer and support.

Please pray with us as we look to our next assignment with TWR. No decision is yet made on where we will go or what exact role we will play. A couple of possibilities have been presented, both of which would be fascinating opportunities toward reaching the unreached. Once we have some clarity on the direction, we will let you know.

Project Update

Nate has returned from the studio upgrade project in Venezuela. He was surprised to find a group of men from among TWR supporters in Venezuela presenting themselves ready to work. They gutted the main control room for the recording studio in Maracay. This involved removing racks of outdated equipment, seemingly miles of wiring and old fixed studio furniture. Under Nate's direction, they rewired the control room and studio for the power and network needed for the new system.

During

Before

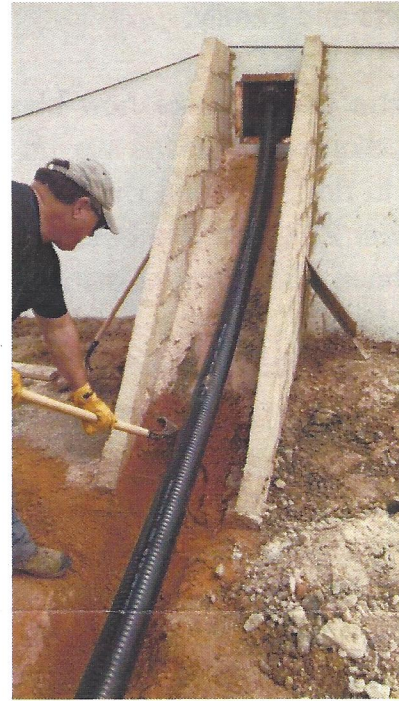

After

The new system is complete with the latest digital technology, new microphones and monitoring system. After completing the training, I was thrilled to see they were already recording before I left for Bonaire.

Bonaire Power Upgrade Project

Following up on the work completed in the new antenna tuning unit houses at the Bonaire transmitter site, we have now laid the new feed lines in the field. As God provides the funds, we move on to the next phase of the installation. When complete, the Bonaire transmitter site will be the most powerful station in the hemisphere

Many blessings,
